Cachuma Lake Recreation Activity Calendar November 2015

GENERAL DESCRIPTION:

November is a wonderful time of year at Cachuma Lake and marks the beginning of “Eagle Season”, highlighting resident and migratory bald eagles around the Lake. The fall colors and light make for an excellent ambiance for a picnic with family or friends. Cool weather is ideal for comfortable camping, day hikes or relaxation around the park or on the lake. Cachuma Lake Recreation Area is a beautiful outdoor destination set amidst oak woodlands in the picturesque Santa Ynez Valley in Santa Barbara County. For easy trip planning, Cachuma Lake takes online reservations for all camping options at www.sbparks.org. At Cachuma Lake you will find practically everything you need for a relaxing lakeside getaway in the great outdoors: Year-round cabin, tent, yurt, and RV camping, boating, boat and kayak rentals, fishing, eagle cruises on the lake, the Neal Taylor Nature Center, bird watching, hiking, photography, picnics, and a general store. Mild temperatures, typically sunny skies, and good fishing conditions make year-round camping here exceptionally rewarding. Located off scenic Highway 154 in the Santa Ynez Valley, Cachuma Lake is midway between the coast of Santa Barbara, area wineries, and the Danish community of Solvang. Visit the Parks website at www.sbparks.org.
